Warren Commission

■ I want to respond to Joseph Ball's letter (Dec. 17) regarding the findings of the Warren Commission and his statement that, "After 30 years no one doubts that Oswald killed Kennedy and wounded Connally."

I hate to burst his bubble, but I've had doubts for years. While I don't know who killed President Kennedy, I have every right to reject the Warren Commission's lone assassin theory and will continue to have doubts about it so long as evidence surrounding the case continues to be suppressed.
